

Marlow Explorer 49E

The development of the new Marlow Explorer 49 followed an unusually long and circuitous development path to assure that in every respect it would continue the heritage that makes a Marlow. Though no easy task, from the beginning, the cast in stone requirement that despite its reduced overall size that it be a Marlow Yacht in every specification was sacred. Countless hours poring over engineering details and numerous full-sized mock-ups of major areas followed by careful appraisal, were carried out over a multi-year development campaign. Our steadfast refusal to compromise full standing head room in machinery spaces while keeping the lowest center of gravity and overall height possible were never on the table for elimination or compromise. The exquisite styling and performance made famous by her larger sisters was not to be compromised in any way, shape or form including ability to shrug off weather conditions that have most boats looking for cover.

Molded in our Full Stack Infusion® process, which is far more advanced than any current maritime product that we are aware of created a stunning testament to the boat builder's art and one which the market has already fully embraced with numerous hulls under build contract and underway.

This new Marlow Explorer fulfills the needs of those who do not require a much larger yacht but want the performance, esthetics, styling and cache that only a Marlow Yacht can provide.

Like her sisters, the new ME 49 is expected to continue the tradition of the highest industry resale and pride of ownership. After all, it is a Marlow!
